PARKING LOT AND MALL CONSTRUCTION: Monday, May 7th will mark the long awaited start of the contractor in the demolition of 180 and 200 N. Oakland Avenue. The portion of Oakland Avenue from Union Street to Ford Place will have all curbs, street surfacing and sidewalks removed. The contractor will erect barricades early Monday morning, May 7, to prevent vehicular traffic and parking. There will still be parking in the Student Parking Lot at the corner of Madison and Walnut and to the rear of dorms at 150, 130, 120, and 110 N. Oakland. Access will be via the driveways at the south side of 110 and the north side of 150 N. Oakland. Driveways at 130 and 120 will be permanently closed. Oakland Avenue will be open for access to the parking lot south of the Library. There may be some parking complications during construction but you will be kept informed via the Semi. R. D. Curley.

Roses: There are no hard and fast rules as to cutting the roses. Obviously there are but a limited number of roses at any one time and the bushes would soon be bare if everyone decided to help themselves. Can't we experiment by having them available in moderate quantities to those who want them but it would be preferable to have Francisco Gonzalez, the gardener, pick the roses as he knows when there are sufficient flowers available. Remember that the roses on the bushes are a source of beauty to scores of passers-by. R. D. Curley
